PRESIDENT GIVES HIS APPROVAL TO RADIO ON CAMPUS

Associated Broadcasters to Connect College With Their Oakland Studios

"This program is brought to you by remote control from the campus of Saint Mary's College" will probably be announced very soon over Radio Station KTAB. Mr. Robert J. McAndrews, debate coach, announced this week that the president of the college has given his formal approval of the remote control station.

Last week, Associated Broadcasters, Inc., owners of KTAB and affiliated stations, approached Mr. McAndrews with the offer to lay the lines at their own expense from their Oakland studio to the College.

Need Sponsor

Now that the permission of the administration has been granted, the company is seeking a sponsor to bear the operating expenses.

According to Mr. McAndrews, the remote control would consist of telephonic connection with the Oakland studio, which would involve considerable operating expense. As the company does not feel that it can bear this expense, a sponsor is being sought for the Saint Mary's programs.

Definite plans have not yet been formulated as to what the programs would consist of or when they would occur. However, Mr. McAndrews, who will probably be in charge of the broadcasts, said that the programs would be varied and represent the many fields in which Saint Mary's is active.

Sports Broadcast

In addition to sports broadcasts from Agnon Field and Madigan Gymnasium, it is planned to present debates, round-table discussions, faculty lectures, glee club concerts, and some band concerts. It is hoped that some of the latent talent on the campus will be brought to light on these programs.

"Saint Mary's is on the air!" will soon be a reality if present plans succeed, and programs will be presented that are worth-while, attractive, and entertaining.

Pressmen Prepare For Convention

According to president Martin Hill, the Press Club will call a special meeting next Tuesday in order to complete the delayed arrangements for the annual Catholic high school press convention to be held in April.

Prior to the conclusion of the first semester, a committee of John O'Connor, Philip Quittman and Arthur Mott was appointed to select a list of schools that would receive invitations to attend the club's major activity of the year. Invitations will be sent to the various schools as soon as the selection is made.

"Bunky" Hill announced that a number of new members will be admitted into the elite club due to the fact that the membership has dwindled considerably with no initiations being held last semester, and with a few of the former members graduating at Christmas.

Committee Named For Frosh Thank You Jig

Joaquin Grill and his fourteen piece orchestra have been selected to play at the Freshman Thank You Dance on February 8 at the Hotel Oakland.

James Walsh, freshman class president, has named a committee comprised of James Brady, Ed Laberge, Leonard D'Artiney, Joe Alioto, Gene Sullivan and Julian Lyons to handle the dance.

Bids have been printed and are now being sold by Lyons and Laberge for one dollar each.

The decorations for the affair will be along the same line as the Welcome Dance and for the most part will be made up of banners with various colored lights shining on them.

Economics Group To Increase Member Limit

At an impromptu meeting of the Economics Association held Tuesday noon, the members discussed their plans for the remainder of the semester.

It was decided to form a basketball team and enter the intramural competition. Arthur Mott, president of the association, displayed the newly printed stationery.

A discussion of proposed trips was held and the members decided on a trip to the San Francisco Stock Exchange and to the Federal Reserve Bank.

Because of the number of eligible students, the membership of the association has been increased from twenty-five to thirty and one more student is needed to fulfill this quota.

Dr. A. S. Campbell Offers Extension Class at U. C.

Professor Arthur S. Campbell announced this week that he will give a course in Heredity fon tne University of California Extension Division every Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock at 540 Powell street in San Francisco.

The course, for which two onits of iollege grade will be given, will cover the Mendelian Laws, their expansion and modern application. The opening lecture was given last Wednesday. However, Dr. Campbell stated that students may still register for the course.

Juniors Pick Saint Francis Yacht Club for 1935 Prom

Culminating one of the most heated debates ever waged within the confines of staid Dante Hall, the Junior Class of 1936 yesterday selected the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco as the site for the most gala affair on Gael social calendars, the Junior Prom.

In a meeting filled with bitter speech-making, caustic jibes and more spirit and interest than the heretofore lethargic third year men have manifested for a long while, the classy club that skirts the placid waters of the bay was finally chosen over several of San Francisco's leading hostelries.

The rendezvous of many of the most colorful society groups in the city by the Golden Gate, the Juniors at last agreed that the Yacht Club had all of the atmosphere and tradition befitting such an event as that which is to take place on the evening of March 1.

Words Fly Fast

Presided over by junior prexy Ed Moran, the Juniors went at each other with all of the rapid-fire speech and enthusiasm born of the importance of the question at hand.

Edward LaCava and Elmer Votto, demon ethician, led the opposing forces in favor of a hotel table dance, a suggestion that Wednesday had met with the full approval of the members of the class.

Discussions Bring Change

Informal discussions held outside of the meeting, however, brought up many points in favor of a site that would provide more privacy for the third year men and their guests of the evening, a necessary detail in any Prom.

In the final balloting, despite the strong reasoning put forth by Edward and Elmer, the cause of the St. Francis Yacht Club was appreciated in the light of the advantages which it will provide.

This same spot was the lovely setting for the Farewell Ball of the Senior class last May, and those who were present at that, the most successful social enterprise undertaken by the class of '34, will attest to the suitableness of the exclusive club for this occasion.

Mr. Smiddy Writes Column for Monitor

Mr. Edward J. Smiddy, secretary to the president of the college, is now writing a weekly column on drama, art, and literature for The Monitor, he revealed this week.

Mr. Smiddy's column made its first appearance in last week's issue of the archdiocesean weekly and will appear regularly hereafter.

'Modern Authors' on New Air Schedule

The "Modern Authors" program which was temporarily discontinued several weeks ago will begin again this evening at a new time over station KTAB, Mr. McAndrews, debate manager, announced yesterday.

Instead of broadcasting at 8:30 as formerly, Mr. Smiddy will come on the air with his discussion of contemporary writers regularly at 7:45.

Flu Confines Collegian Editor to Infirmary

Confined to the college infirmary with an attack of the flu early in the week, Havelock Hunter, editor of The Collegian, has missed editing the paper for the first time since his appointment last March.

Daughter Born To Wife of History Prof

Latest reports have it that Professor Claude T. Silva has been seen during his off hours in Oakland's downtown section, picking out baby clothes.

Claude T. Silva

And the genial history instructor has every right in the world to be doing just that thing, for it's a baby girl at the Silva house now, who arrived just as the Spring semester started at Saint Mary's.

Mrs. Silva and little Miss Silva are doing fine, and the head of the house strolls around the campus these days with all the pride due a rising young father.

Brother Gregory Leaves Hospital For Auto Ride

Brother Gregory, Provincial and former president of the college who has been seriously ill in Saint Mary's hospital in San Francisco since early last fall has shown remarkable improvement in the last two weeks, Brother Ralph, treasurer, announced this week.

On last Sunday, Brother Gregory left the hospital for the first time, for a short automobile ride with Professor Hagerty.

Initial ASSMC Meet Slated For February

The first meeting of the Associated Students for 1935 will be held in the early part of February, according to President Noel Sherry.

At this meeting several controversial issues are to be passed over to the students by the ex-council. Efforts are also being made to secure a former ASSMC president to address the meeting.

Ping Pong Outfit Placed In Soph Hall

Devotees of Ping pong were heartened yesterday by the announcement that a complete set of equipment for the game has been installed on the fourth floor of the Sophomore Hall.

As soon as possible, a manager will be appointed by the ASSMC president and a contest will be arranged between the classes and the campus clubs.

The first ones to use the new indoor sporting equipment were Mr. McAndrews and Vince McNally.

Economics Professor Brands Townsend Plan as Dangerous

The much discussed Townsend Plan —to pay all persons over sixty years of age, $200 per month, provided that they spend all of it within a month from date received, spend it all in the United States, and retire from work has been branded by Mr. M. Joseph Foran, professor in Economics, in an interview for The Collegian, as being a dream incapable of realization.

M. JOSEPH FORAN

In presenting the reasons for his stand, Mr. Foran points out that $200 a month equals $2400 a year, and as there were approximately 10,000,000 persons over sixty years of age in the United States in the last census, the annual cost of the plan would be the staggering sum of twenty-four billion dollars.

High Tax

Dr. Townsend and his followers have proposed to raise this huge amount by a two per cent tax on sales. But, Mr. Foran points out, the total retail and wholesale sales for 1933 were fifty-seven billion dollars and a forty-two per cent sales tax would be required in order to obtain the amount needed in the plan. He says, "It was later suggested by the Townsend group that the tax be placed on all financial transactions. I do not have the figures for financial transactions other than sales, but even if they amounted to as much as the sales, which they probably do not even approximate, the tax would have to be twenty-one per cent."

Then, too, the annual amount needed for the pension payments would be from one-third to one-half of the national income, which ranged from eighty-nine to fifty billion dollars in the years 1928 to 1934, said Mr. Foran. This means that the persons over sixty years of age, constituting only eight

Alumni Secretary In Transition Talk

Mr. Canty Urges Seniors to Join Graduate Body

Mr. Timothy J. Canty, Alumni secretary, will be the third transition speaker of the term, having for his topic, "The.. Advantages of Joining the Alumni Association."

CANTY

Together with this, Mr. Canty will give a brief review of alumni activities in the past, and will outline the plans of the association for the coming year.

Last week's speaker was Mr. Daniel E. Doran, the editor of the San Francisco "Leader." Mr. Doran gave an interesting talk on present day newspapers and pointed out that journalism was a most fascinating adventure.

"No one makes a fortune writing for a newspaper, but if they make $5,000 a year, they have $10,000 worth of fun," explained Mr. Doran. The editor expressed a belief that the present day newspapers would soon have to give way to the fast growing popular tabloid. In Mr. Doran's opinion, the New York Times is the leading paper of the day.

Literati Schedule Banquet Next Week

Members of Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon, the campus honor society, will hold their annual spring banquet Monday evening in Oakland, it was announced by Henry Floyd, the president.

The dinner will also be a welcome to the members who were initiated this week. These are: Joseph Franey, Elias Welch, Carl Schuck, Cornelio Baca. Richard Vail and Franklin Harris.

The society is also making arrangements for a concert in March. after the mid-term examinations.

Rain Does Little Damage to Campus

Despite the recent heavy rains, the amount of damage caused on the campus has been of minor consequence.

For the first time in the past few seasons serious slides on the southwest end of Lake la Salle have not taken place and the pathway is intact. Growth of the trees planted on this bank has aided in eliminating the danger.

The lake itself, which is now full and overflowing into the dam spillway, has become of a sudden the home of a large flock of hell-divers and ducks.

About the only serious damage is an occasional swelling on the macadam roadways. This has been caused by water seepage.

College Papers to Be Available in Lounge

By arrangement with The Collegian staff and members of the ex-council, the exchanges received from other colleges by the student publications will be placed in the lounge of de La Salle Hall for the use of the student body.

To avoid confusion and loss of papers, not all the papers will be placed in the lounge at once; instead one-seventh of the total number will be put out each day and then collected the next morning.

Campus Knights To Hold Meeting Monday

Local Knights of Columbus will hold their regular semi-monthly meeting on Monday evening in the De La Salle Hall clubroom. A special meeting scheduled for Monday of this week was postponed due to conflict with the Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon initiation.

On Sunday Joseph Franey, one of the members who received his first degree in the last class, will go to California Council in San Francisco to receive the second and third degrees of the order.

HOLY NAMES HOST AT TEA DANSANT THIS AFTERNOON

Annual Affair To Be Held at Rockridge Women's Club In Oakland

Dancing to the strains of Allen Hargrave's orchestra, Saint Mary's students will be entertained this afternoon by the College of the Holy Names of Oakland at the Rockridge Women's Club.

Miss Rose Adele Gianella, president of the student body, will be in charge of the dance, and will be assisted in introducing the Saint Mary's men by a committee composed of Misses Margaret Trotter, Virginia Vaughn, Muriel Viven, Jean Calou, Mary Gallagher and Anabelle Holmes.

Return Train

Students desiring to attend the dansant should take the 3:00 o'clock train and get off at College and Shafter station in Oakland. The Rockridge Women's Club, which is located at 5682 Keith Avenue, is only two blocks from the station.

Due to the convenience, The Holy Names girls selected the Rockridge Club this year instead of the Hotel Oakland where they entertained the college students last year. If previous years are any indication, the dance will be attended by practically the entire student body of both colleges.

Dinner this evening will be postponed until 6:30 p. m. in order to give the students time to return to college on the train.

Red Menace To Be Discussed in Debate

Radicalism as a grave menace to constituted governmental authority will be discussed here Tuesday evening when the Senate Debating Society of the University of California meets a local team.

The campus representatives, Joseph Cassidy and Philip Quittman, are to take the affirmative of the topic, "Resolved: That radicals should be evicted from the United States."

Define Radicals

In considering the proposition, the affirmative team will not consider so-called "pinks" and "brain trust members" as radicals. This error, which is so evident, has been made very often by metropolitan newspapers and the old-fogy type of educators.

Japan and Naval Parity

A second varsity debate on the campus is scheduled for Thursday, when the San Jose State Teachers College debaters will clash with Henry Floyd and Carl Schuck on the naval parity question.

The Garden City orators, Howard Morris and Anthony Anastasi, will present the affirmative case of "Resolved: That Japan should be given naval parity." Both of these meetings are to be held in La Salle Hall starting at 7:30 p. m.

A return encounter on the same topic will be given at San Jose over station KQW on February 21. On the following Sunday, February 3, Arthur Mott. Joseph Alioto and Noel Sherry are scheduled to visit the state penitentiary at San Quentin to review the important question of the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Trustees Appoint Group To Boost Registration

In order to increase the attendance at the college, a committee consisting of Professor J. L. Hagerty, Brother James, Timothy J. Canty and Andrew Johnson, honorary alumnus, was appointed by the Board of Trustees recently.

In its report, the committee suggested dividing the state into sections with an alumnus in charge of each section to interest high school students in that section in the college. The various alumni units will cooperate with the chairman appointed by the committee.

VARSITY HOOPSTERS FACE PACIFIC FIVE

Stockton Hopes to Even Series Count

By AL McKEEVER

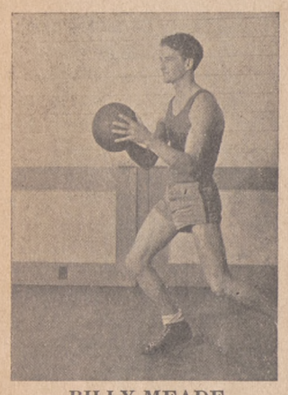
With his attention focused on a game scheduled just eight days hense—the crucial "rubber match" with the California five—Vince McNally is sending his Gael varsity through their final paces. To complicate matters, however. this last minute preparation finds the Moragans running up against two old rivals, the College of Pacific "Tigers" and Wally Cameron's "Dons" of San Francisco, each of whom is in a fine spot to upset the well intended plans of the Gael mentor.

With already one game played, during the Christmas holidays, wrested from the "Tigers," the Gaels prepare to invade Stockton tomorrow night for the second and concluding game of the series.

Capt. Meade Ready

The contest promises to be another duel between the two "little giants" of the respective schools—Captain Billy Meade of Saint Mary's and Bob Randall, dimunitive Pacific star.

A vastly improved varsity will face the Tigers with sophomores Johnny



BILLY MEADE

Giannoni and Al Nelson displaying much of their sensational freshmen form.

Under the hole Nelson is a hard man to beat. His uncanny handling of the ball and adroitness in maneuvering for set-up shots has made him the most feared Gael.

Giannoni Pops Long Ones

Giannoni, who alternates at guard and center, has become proficient at dropping them through the mesh from mid-court. His large form and long arms make his defensive work doubly efficient.

Wednesday evening finds the Gaels in their final appearance before the California test when they match shots with San Francisco's "Dons" at Kezar Pavilion.

Former Local Star Makes Good Record

Flashing all of the form that made him the most consistent scorer at Saint Mary's in recent years, Dick Bill, former Gael golf star, this week finished with a 72-hole score of 304 in the Sacramento Open Golf tournament and finished the long trek creditably as four place amateur.

Playing with some of the best money men in professional golf, Bill shared the first day 36-hole amateur lead with Jackie Finger, both of them taking 149 strokes each. Bill had a 76 in the morning round, but came back strong after lunch to card a one over par 73. Finger had 77-72 to tie Bill at 149.

In the final thirty-six holes, played Monday, a strong wind bothered Dick's usually faultless long game, and he finished the tiring grind with 79-76, giving him a full total 304.

Competition Tough

Considering the competition that he was against, both in the amateur and professional ranks, Bill did very well to win the fourth amateur spot.

Finger won the low amateur honors, with a total 298, Don Edwards, Stanford star, was second with 299, Dr. Clifford Baker pulled up third with 300 and Bill won fourth place honors at 304.

At Saint Mary's, genial Dick was captain in 1934, his senior year, and was a mainstay on the golf squad for the first three years of its organization.

Bill is a very long driver when on his game, and while at Saint Mary's he competed with many of the famous intercollegiate stick men who play in this neck of the golf woods.

Frosh Whip Three More Basket Foes

Coach Lang Runs Up Streak Of Wins

This week found the Frosh quintet playing a lot of high class basketball in which they chalked up their seventh, eighth and ninth consecutive victories. Monday night the Gaelet casaba tossers administered a defeat to a fast and classy Oakland Y.M.I. team to the tune of 32-23. Minehan, rangy Frosh center, led the attack with 10 digits; Tobin led the Y.M.I. scorers with 11 points.

Tuesday afternoon the yearlings rolled up their second victory of the week at the expense of the stubborn San Leandro High team. The game started out rather slow, with Coach Lang using his second string. The score see-sawed throughout the contest but when the final whistle blew, the score found the freshmen out in front by the score of 26-18. Peravich, the boy who has been filling the place left vacant by the illness of Frank Shock, led the scorers with 7 points; Platt of the losers closely followed Peravich with 6 points.

Golden Gate Junior College fell prey to the sharpshooting freshmen Wednesday evening by the score of 45 to 11, the most lopsided score of the season.

Coach Lang used his entire squad in the fray.

Crockett Quintet Smashes Bombers

Despite the added "punch" of Diamond Joe Curtin, Flynn's Terrible Bombers, alleged champs of all Moraga, went down to their second consecutive defeat Monday evening when they fell victims to a fast passing aggregation from Crockett by a 46 to 32 margin.

Starting out as if they meant business, the hard-charging Bombers, composed mainly of cumbersome gridders, ran up a 3-0 lead which they soon relinquished to the visitors. With Iggy Kroskoph dropping them in from all angles, the Crockett team soon piled up a comfortable lead and at half time left the floor leading by a 26 to 11 score.

Curtin Cops Semi-Windup

During a heated second period which saw the Bombers rally momentarily, only to succumb again to the accurate shooting of Kroskoph, "Diamond" Curtin had a "misunderstanding" with Pancho Romo, burly Crockett guard, which they readily settled without the benefit of a third party.

High-point honors for the evening went to Kroskoph with 18 points, while Bunky Hill and big Herm Meister played star roles for the vanquished Bombers, ably supported by Captain Flynn and Ev Pendleton.

To Pacify Pacific

Snapped in a work-out this week in preparation for the Pacific Tigers hoop team, Giannoni, Nelson and Raffanti all go up for a high bucket shot in Madigan Gym.

Sophs Smother Big Junior Tribe, 50-28

With a classy offense and a sturdy defense, the fast sophomore basketball team smothered the juniors by a score of 50 to 28 in Madigan gymnasium Wednesday night. The sophomores headed by "Zipper" Paddock took an early lead and continued to increase it throughout the entire game. Not once did the highly touted junior team, under the managership of "Crobar" Cromarty threaten or even come close to worrying the flashy soph five. This was the first inter-class game.

It was a fast game with plenty of thrills and spills for the spectators; such action being provided by "Boomer" Owens and "Crash" Cassidy, Chicago's gift to basketball. At one time the action was so plentiful that referees De Rocco and Jay were driven from the floor into the stands when they called a foul on the juniors for resorting to football tactics.

Valentini was high point man for the winners with 20 points, while Jorgensen carried off the honors for the defeated team with 7 points to his credit. Interest is so evident in the league that Manager Bob Latuda is considering having two teams represent each class instead of one as is the case at the present time. The schedule for next week finds the juniors playing the seniors Tuesday night and the freshman playing the sophomores on Thursday night.

Hurling Team

STARTS SEASON SOON

According to Brother James, coach of the Saint Mary's hurling team, practice will start next Sunday. Practice will be held on the Saint Mary's College High School field. This year the hurling season will get under way the first of April, and the Gaels are a strong favorite to win the championship since they went into the finals last year, losing out in the championship game. This year the Saints will field the same team that played last year.

Added interest in the game was brought about when the University of San Francisco announced that it might enter a team in the league this season. If this be the case, the game between Saint Mary's and the University of San Francisco would be the first inter-Collegiate hurling tilt ever to be played in the Bay district.

Saint Mary's will depend mostly on Pendleton, Starvovich, Dyer and Hayes in her pennant chase this year, although new material is expected to be uncovered before the season gets under way.

Stanford Thrashes Moragans, 41-30

Cards Snatch Early Lead in Court Tilt

With Turner, Lindsey, Moore and Topping collaborating to give Stanford an 8-0 advantage after the first seven minutes of play, the Indians continued strongly to take a 31-30 victory over the Gaels last Saturday night at Stanford.

The Cards came back strongly after their stinging defeat of the night before at the hands of California, and stepped out immediately to show the Gaels there was to be no beating for them on that night. At no time during the game did the Gaels ever lead, and only once, at the beginning of the second half, did they tie the score.

Lindsey Stars

With Nelson and Hanna heading the attack, Saint Mary's drew up to within two points of the Indians toward the close of the first period, when the score stood 14-12, but by the intermission Stanford had a 5-point advantage at 19-14.

Lindsey ran wild during the first half and scored 11 of the Indians' 19 points, finally annexing high point honors for the game with a total of 14. Nelson led the Moragans with 12 markers.

After the rest period Saint Mary's came with a rush for the first five minutes and managed to tie the score, 23-23. This was the result of three baskets in rapid succession by Raffanti, Hanna and Nelson.

New Blood

New blood was inserted into the Stanford lineup, namely Page, Nobs and Bost, which seemed to aid the Indians, and by the middle of the period they were once again ahead, 27-23.

Saint Mary's never again came closer than four points. Towards the end, the Gaels were weakened by the loss of Raffanti and Hanna on personal fouls.

It was an improved Indian squad, whose passing and shooting were smoother than for some time before, that defeated the Gaels. Saint Mary's, at intervals throughout the game, was both ragged and brilliant. Only a small crowd was in attendance.

NET ENTHUSIASTS MEET ON MONDAY

Many Veterans on Hand for 1935 Campaign

Prospects of this season's Gael tennis team show little improvement over those of the past. This is true in spite of the fact that there are four veterans returning; enough in ordinary circumstances to mould a strong team.

The usual burden of insufficient funds for equipment, traveling expenses, coaching, etc., will again handicap the local netmen. Ever since its inception, the Gael tennis varsity has woefully lacked coaching.

No Budge

An excellent opportunity to remove this deficiency was passed up when the athletic office announced it would not raise the quota to be given to the tennis team, thus eliminating the chance of getting the professional services of Lloyd Budge, brother of the famous Don, in a coaching capacity.

Tom Wood, a veteran of the local team, had worked out a plan with Lloyd Budge whereby the Gael tennis men would receive two days each week of coaching in return for a fair amount of purchases at the sporting goods house Budge represented.

Since the tennis courts on the campus are the poorest of any campus in the Bay area, the men that turn out for the local teams are at least entitled to some coaching to offset the handicap they play under.

Meeting Monday

The men who will form the main strength of the tennis team this season are Dick Schuman and Art Garabotti, the two clever freshman who held down the No. 1 and No. 3 posts last season; Percy Goldstein and Tom Wood, the three year veterans who were No. 2 and No. 5 last spring.

Since Walt Wong and Jack Manley, the other two ranking players, failed to return to college two positions on the first team are open.

In order to elect a captain, and also a manager for the coming season, as well as to sign up any new members to the team, a meeting will be held in D114, Monday, at 12:25.

Bonelli Named as New Sacred Heart Mentor

Noel Bonelli, another Madigan protege who left the campus in December with his coveted sheepskin, has been appointed football coach at Sacred Heart College high school in San Francisco, local authorities reported this week.

Bonelli is following in the footsteps of the Hungerfords, Conlans, Underhills, Rooneys, Seghettis, Lesters, et al., and every Saint Mary's man wishes him the same success that his predecessors have enjoyed.

GAEL GLANCES

By Martin Hill

A few days ago the mercury was so low that local athletes were giving some serious thought towards getting up an ice hockey team which could hold its workouts on our own Lake la Salle.

Without any warning whatsoever, the numbing atmosphere was transposed to a pleasant mildness. Then all hopes for a winter sports program were over. Now Lake la Salle is failing to respond with a frozen surface.

But the aspiring sportsters and their tutors, although surprised by the sudden change, immediately set forth to take advantage of the more inviting weather.

Varsity baseball candidates were summoned for a meeting at noon yesterday. By two o'clock uniforms and other equipment had been distributed, and Phoenix Field provided the setting for the first practice of the season.

Red Strader had a suit on too. He put the boys through their paces. As yet, there has been no definite official announcement stating just who will be the regular coach.

Regardless, Strader will handle the duties for the time being with the aid of Pope Illia who is slated to appear on the campus this afternoon. Both Strader and Illia played big league ball at one time. Red caught and Pope chucked.

But all is not baseball. The Spring semester at Saint Mary's offers much in the way of variety in sports. Football stands alone in the Fall. Which reminds us that even the gridders will swing into action the first week in March. Spring practice, you know.

As mentioned elsewhere on these pages, the tennis and golf teams are to be organized within the next few days. Hurling also looms up as a prominent activity on the Gael athletic calendar.

It is a bit too early for the swimming and water polo teams to start practice. We need not mention that the tank is empty. Boxing is not very likely to wend its way back into the local diversions.

Track is still just potential. Probably always will be unless someone really interested comes along. But there seems to be no eye powerful enough to detect anyone approaching in the distance, and there is no pin to prick the would-be instigators here now. It's a hopeless point.

Basketball holds sway at present. Varsity and Frosh quintets are entering upon the latter half of their schedules. Nine of the ten remaining Varsity contests are with college teams. There is a strong chance that Vince McNally's cagers can hang up their best record this year, pending the results of the final tests.

Intramural hoopmen hold two tussles each week. Specially organized campus teams also pit their basketeers against any and all opposition. After intramural basketball comes an indoor baseball tournament for the non-members of the Frosh and Varsity squads.

For those who complain of stiff elbow or shoulder joints ,a remedy in the way of a ping pong table has been installed in the top floor of soph dorm. Slip Madigan is the donor and everyone is welcome to paddle the pellet.

MORE ABOUT BASEBALL AND STUFF . . . the frosh are to get some brand new, classy uniforms some time next month . . . the ball garb is said to be the best obtainable . . . jackets similar to those of the Phoenix will accompany each suit . . . the Saint Mary's Club outfitted the Varsity last season . . . now the yearlings are favored by the same active and gracious group . . . S. F. Assemblyman Hornblower donated a dozen bats to the Frosh . . . Phoenix Field will be in A-1 shape by Tuesday . . . then the diamond will begin to sparkle . . . Gael baseballers will be 100 per cent present on Tuesday when Joe Cronin drops over to give a talk to the teams . . . Joe Devine also promised to be along.

Apple City Men Lose to Gaelets

Moraga's crack 1935 Freshmen quintet easily defeated Watsonville Union High School Saturday night in the apple city by a convincing 37-18 score.

Playing against his former teammates, Barney Peravich, Gaelet forward, found the basket four times for eight points to take high honors for the evening. Shock, Williams and Minehan each contributed seven points while Timby scored four for the Pajaro Valley team.

Utilizing a unit system, the prep team was able to hold the charges of El Lang to a scant 16-12 lead at half time. However, in the second half the Freshmen consistently scored from the floor while their smaller adversaries were able to contribute but one additional field goal to their total.

Box score:

FRESHMEN PRE-GAME— SACRAMENTO AND U. S. F. FROSH

Victors in their last nine starts, three of them during the past week, the smooth frosh basketball squad of Elwood Lang meets Sacramento High School tonight on the local court and Bob Kleckner's USF babes Wednesday night.

Tonight's game should be fairly close, as the northern team has defeated the majority of their opponents, both prep and college, thus far during the season. Wednesday night's tourney, however, is another story. Preliminary to the varsity encounter between the two Catholic college rivals, the game inaugurates the annual three-game series.

The only basis for analyzing comparative scoring power is the Marin Junior College game. Both teams were defeated by Scoop Carlson's fast jaysee outfit, the Gaelets, by a scant five point margin and the hill-toppers by fifteen points.

Ace Gridders Seek To Remedy Poor Grades

Harry Mattos, John Yezerski and Nebb Elduayan who were dismissed from the college, due to deficiency in their scholastic work will return to Saint Mary's in 1936, according to reports current last night.

JOHN YEZERSKI

The trio will attend Los Angeles Junior College in the meantime to to make up the necessary grade points. Their appearance in Los Angeles definitely spiked all rumors that they would seek admission to Louisiana State University or any other southern school.

Baseball Coach?

NORMAN "RED" STRADER

Phoenix Strengthened; Many New Players

Baseball men yesterday engaged in their first official workout on the newly-repaired local diamond. Prospects for a good season greeted "Red" Strader, when he faced a group of husky campaigners, all with fine reputations at the mound and afield.

Returning to the pitching staff were "Lefty" Godec only winner of an intercollegiate game last season, "Lefty" Flannagan, 1934 Frosh mound ace, Ray Steeley, high school strikeout king, Jim Austin, southern husky, Ed Stetson. tall right hander, Ray Cleone and "Fuzz" Flynn.

The '35 Phoenix team is strengthened considerably this year with the addition of several Junior College transfers and a host of fine looking recruits from the highly-successful first year team that cavorted last season.

Cagers To Engage Pacific and USF

Coach Cameron boasts of never having lost a contest to Saint Mary's since having taken over the coaching duties at San Francisco. The McNallymen having already demonstrated to California their intent on administering the "Dons" their first reverse.

Last year's two contests resulted in vistories for the "city slickers" and McNally hasn't forgotten the fact.

With the biggest and fastest-breaking five he has ever had to work as a unit, Coach McNally is devising plays that he hopes his charges will be able to cash in on.

Although only enjoying a fair season themselves, the "Dons" with the familiar form of center Joe Murphy carrying the burden will offer the Gael five plenty of opposition.

Lewis, New Don Hope

Latest "Don" contests have unearthed a new prospect in little Ed Lewis, forward from last year's frosh. Only recently Lewis suddenly found his eye and has won a forward berth, pairing off with Emil Becker.

Kirk Armistead ,a veteran, and sophomore Phil Garcia round out the club that will start against the Gael varsity.

Banking not entirely on the ability of his forward men to run up a score, McNally has installed a new and intricate defense. It was first used and with some success against Stanford. McNally hopes that with the added experience through daily practice, his men will have mastered it sufficiently to check the San Francisco offense.

In a preliminary, the freshmen teams of both schools start hostilities.

Probable lineups:

Saint Mary's	Pos.	San Francisco
Al Nelson	F	Ed Lewis
Bill Meade	F	Bill Becker
Johnny Giannoni	C	Joe Murphy
Don Raffanti	G	Kirk Armistead
Bud Hanna	G	Phil Garcia

Important Golfing Meet at Noon Today

All candidates for positions on the 1935 Saint Mary's varsity golf team will meet this afternoon at 12:20 in Room 114, Dante Hall. The purpose of the meeting will be to elect a captain and a manager, and to discuss plans for the coming season.

With but five known varsity candidates, the pellet-chasers are sorely in need of new golfing blood in the ranks, and anyone who shoots any kind of a game is almost certainly assured of intercollegiate competition.

With the election of captain and manager, active work will begin to raise funds and to schedule matches with local schools and clubs for the coming season.

ALUMNI NOTES

ALUMNI HERE AND THERE

Thomas Jay '31, of Oja, Arizona, had a rather active vocation. He became the father of a baby boy on December 22, and went to the hospital with a bad case of scarlet fever the next day. Jay is employed by the New Cornelia Copcer Co. in Oja . . . Mr. M. Quinn, father of John Quinn '16, of Courtland, and Anthony Quinn '17, of Oakland, died at his Oakland residence last Sunday. Sincerest sympathy is extended to his family . . . Virgil Goldman '34, and Miss Margaret McKay, both formerly of Oakland, were married on January 5 at St. Andrew's rectory, Pasadena. They are residing at 1151½ E. 64th street, Los Angeles . . . David Hinch who just received his degree at Christmas, is now working for Thomas M. Gardiner Co. of Oakland . . . Adrian C. Gilbert '30, formerly of Stockton, is now with the Calaveras Transit Co., Ltd., of Angels Camp . . . Jack Tolan '33, is now working in Washington. D. C., where his father, Congressman John Tolan, is attending the session of the national legislature.

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

The special meeting of the Alumni Board of Directors, held at the Pompeii Grill, San Francisco, last week, for the purpose of outlining a new student program for the Alumni Association, was well attended. Vice-President Leo Cunningham '01, presided.

Among the others present were: Chaplain Rev. Joseph McAuliffe '90; Executive Secretary Timothy J. Canty '23; Directors: Gerald Lawlor '99, Fred Wolff '12, Dr. Fred West '14, J. Giles Miller '18, John W. Collins '20, C. Wesley Davis '28. J. Justin Kegler '28, J. Phillip Murphy '29, Joseph Stretch '30, Justin Mahoney '18, and Edward Rowden.

BASEBALL NIGHT

Baseball Night will be held in Madigan Gymnasium on Thursday evening, February 14, according to Louis Guisto '16, chairman of the committee which is making arrangements for the event.

Guisto is planning to have all of the important figures in baseball who live in the bay district in attendance at the event. Among those to be invited are Joe Cronin, newly appointed manager of the Boston Red Sox, Oscar Vitt and "Kettle" Wirts, new managers of the Oakland and Sacramento teams, respectively, "Gabby" Street of the Missions, "Lefty" O'Doul and others.

In addition, a large number of big league and Coast league stars who are former students of the college will be in attendance, such as "Bookie" Harrington of Seattle, Tom Conlon of the Oaks, "Wee" Ludolph of the Oaks, Larry Bettencourt, and George Wilson.

The rally will be a timely affair inasmuch as it is to be held just two days before Saint Mary's opens its intercollegiate season with California at Berkeley on Saturday, February 16.

Aiding Guisto in plans for the event will be Anselm Duffy '91, assistant treasurer of the college; John F. "King" Brady '06, principal of Everett Junior High School, San Francisco; Edward Hallinan '07, County Clerk's Office, San Francisco; Eddie Burns '07, Monterey merchant; Harry Hooper '07, postmaster of Capitola; Judge Frank W. Dunn '08, San Francisco; Joseph Oeschger '16, Presidio Junior High School, San Francisco; Sheriff William J. Fitzgerald '05, San Francisco; James Roberts '25, San Francisco contractor, and James Kane '34, who has just signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds.

The committee in charge is composed of several major league stars. Among these being Eddie Burns, former catcher for the Philadelphia Nationals; Harry Hooper, former outfielder for the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox, and Joe Oeschger, who was a member of the Brooklyn team, pitched the longest game in the history of the big leagues, a 26 inning event.

The meeting of the committee was held last evening in the offices of Sheriff Fitzgerald to further outline plans for the event.

All former Saint Mary's baseball players and all other baseball players are invited to attend "Baseball Night."

SAN LUIS UNIT IN DRIVE

Under the direction of Jean B. Joyaux '34, president, the San Luis unit of the Alumni is close to its quota on the Brother Agnon Memorial Burse. Aiding Joyaux in this drive are Leslie Ghezzi '22, and Romeo Tognazzini '09.

HOMECOMING DAY

Homecoming Day for all graduates and former students of the College has been tentatively set for Sunday, March 10, with Peter J. Stoltz '13, as chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the event.

No definite plans for entertainment have as yet been formulated, however it has been announced that the Homecoming Day committee will work out a program that will be entirely different from the one last year.

Guisto Asks Owners to Call For Lost Articles

"I don't mind running a lost and found department, but when the owners fail to come around and collect their stray goods, I think that something should be done about it" stated Louis Guisto, proprietor of the student Co-op, as he displayed a varied collection of books, binders, fountain pens and other articles.

If the owners do not put in their claims soon, it was suggested that a public auction be held. What is to be done with the funds may be realized from the sale does not seem to worry anyone at this time.

Inquiries concerning the lost articles should be made at the Co-op befor 3:30 p. m. on any school day.

Saint Louis Offers Grads Fellowships

It has been announced by the office of the President that Saint Louis University offers Graduate Fellowships to students of Saint Mary's who wish to qualify for advanced degrees in several academic departments, among them being Economics, Education, English, History, Modern Languages and Philosophy.

The fellowships are open only to applicants who have received the Bachelor's Degree; the basis of selection will be the academic and personal record of the candidate, together with supporting letters from those qualified to write of the candidates' character.

Graduate Fellows are appointed for one year, the stipend varying with the qualifications and training of the appointee and with the amount of service required.

The university has also established Graduate Fellowships in Medicine, Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics. Applicants must have attained the Degree of Doctor of Medicine and have completed a year's interneship in one of the hospitals recognized by the Medical Association for Interneship.

Applicants should have official transcripts of their records forwarded by the college directly to the Dean of the Graduate School, Saint Louis University, 15 North Grand Boulevard, Saint Louis, Missouri.

SENIOR SKETCH

"Sergeant O'Hare, O'Hare; Didja hear me?"

"O' what?"

"O'Hare, O'Hare! What ya got on ya head?"

"My brother, I'm an acrobat."

And although Jim O'Hare of Saint Mary's College is not the O'Hare of Jack Benny fame, he is the O'Hare of Moraga fame.

Future Doctor

Jim's well-known ambition is to have the title of "Doctor" affixed before his name in about four years. He is one of the most outstanding students in the school as well as a prominent member of the pre-medical curriculum.

Stanford University will be the institution which O'Hare will attend to finish his medicine work.

Although his scholastic achievements are well-known by the men about the campus, the fact that Jim is quite an athlete in his own sphere is not so well known. At Mission High School in San Luis Obispo, he was an outstanding football player, covering the end position.

As a freshman he reported for the grid team, but extensive medical work in his second year forced him to give up the game.

Medal Winner

Last year Jim achieved further prominence by winning the Christian Doctrine Medal awarded annually for the best student of religion.

For his thesis, O'Hare has chosen a dissertation on the foraminfera.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR PROM COMPLETED

Event Expected To Be Best Ever Given

Because they have never been forced to enter the debit side of the ledger, because they hold the second richest reserve purse in the college, and because every affair that they have put on since a rather inauspicious school entrance in the fall of '32 has been "taps," this year's Junior Class does NOT hope to put on the best Junior Prom in recent years.

They go further and absolutely guarantee that it will be THE best Junior Prom ever promoted at Saint Mary's College!

"Not only will we make this dance the classiest one that the students have ever had the opportunity of attending, but it is my firm belief that we will do what no other third year class has done since we have been here—we will add more money to our class coffers," confided Ed Moran, president, when asked for a statement last night.

Good Music, More Floor Space

Music for the evening will be furnished by Nick Morrissey and his St. Francis Yacht Club orchestra. Excellent vocal talent is being sought, and the three winsome lassies who sang at the Senior Ball will in all probability complete an evening of entertainment that should be unsurpassed in the annals of past Proms.

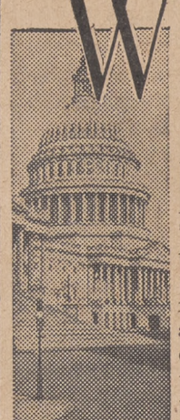
Beside the ample floor space provided at the last Senior dance, the management will also fit the lavish lobby and sitting room to take care of the many dancing couples at the scheduled Prom. New loudspeakers have been installed and with the additional space to be given the Juniors, there will be plenty of room for the large attendance expected.

It will be a no-corsage affair, but the favors promised by Moran and his cohorts will make any fair companion forget that there are such things as flowers or corsages.

Bids will go on sale on the campus the latter part of next week.

POLITICAL FRONT

BY JACK G. METZ



Capitol Dome

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—At last that long-awaited event in the Capital has taken place and the news of it spread across the front pages of the nation's newspapers. Yes, Congress opened with more than the usual flourish, and from appearances will continue to furnish sensational news for the press.

PERSONAL IMPRESSIONS

The sessions in both the House and the Senate are as colorful as the imaginative press has painted them; though what takes place on the floor is somewhat disappointing to the innocent and high-idealed college graduate of today. As one sits in the gallery and gazes over the several hundred representatives, who carry into that group the politics of constituents—or at least they're supposed to do that—from the entire forty-eight states, visions of the First Continental Congress, the framing of the Declaration of Independence, historic debates, flashes of statesmen like Clay, Webster and Calhoun, return to the imagination on a more realistic foundation than grammar school histories provide.

SETTING

A perfect setting for supposed legislation is afforded in both houses, but the environment of the House seems to have no effect upon delegates. The Stars and Stripes placed directly behind the Speaker immediately catches the eye and revives the meaning of that symbolic tri-colored cloth. Speaker Joe Byrne rests leisurely in his chair, while to his right the parliamentarian is ready to pass judgment on legality of procedure and anything pertaining to parliamentary law.

Directly in front, the sergeant-at-arms, clerks, and reporters busily accomplish their duties. Pages dash about in their messengerial capacities. The seats, in semi-circular arrangement before the Speaker, having been planned to accommodate the Representatives, are but a pattern in the beautiful room for the venerable statesmen seen to be engaged in everything but listening to the antics of a raving legislator. Some are catching up on the day's news; others learning what happened in the House on the preceding day; still others are idling about, dropping a word to a friend here and there, roaming about as though lost; a vast minority are following the speaker, in fact following him so closely that they are constantly on their feet with "Will the gentleman yield?", and eagerly participating in a debate. In a few words, the House of Representatives is everything but orderly; in one word, it is—

INFORMAL

To continue in the some vein, it is disillusioning. But then the occupants of the gallery must remember that their Representatives are not performing for their benefit, but have the Congressional Record in constant view. The people back home might take great pride in reading what their Congressman has to say—a few votes might also be secured.

In one particular session, the informality described before came immediately to a halt when a loud announcement was made to the effect that the President of the United States had a message to be read before the House. All became quiet—most unbecoming to the House—and the clerk proceeded to read the momentous message on social security and the expected legislation along those lines. From the gossip garnered around the Hill, the President will not be disappointed. As a matter of fact, the only opposition that is anticipated in Congress to Presidential wishes is the Bonus, and the definite attitude of Congressional leaders on that measure will be publicized shortly. However, the point at issue is the manner in which the Congressmen perked up their ears at the mention of the "President of the United States." Sort of a "jump at the crack of the whip" idea. It was most educating!

PALO ALTANS MEET VARSITY DEBATERS

Stanford Women Come Here In Return Engagement

"A big step toward the preservation of world peace would be taken if the international shipment of arms and munitions were prevented." In that statement Philip Brady, varsity debater, summarized the affirmative case in a debate held in De La Salle lounge last Tuesday evening.

Upholding the negative argument for the evening were Barbara Sweet and Miriam Wolfe, members of the Stanford women's varsity. Philip Bradys' colleague was Walter Harris, a gridder who was determined to have some competition against Stanford, if not on the football field then on the field of argumentation.

The chief contentions of the negative were that such a plan for preserving world peace was not only impractical but would also bring with it evils which were worse than those existing at present.

Varsity Committee To Meet at Noon Today

Members of the varsity committee will meet this noon with the Board of Athletic Control to decide on several awards, under the chairmanship of Noel Sherry. The student members of the committee are: Noel Sherry, Samuel McCullagh, William Simon, Edward LaBerg and Arthur Mott.

Saint Mary's Club

Completion of arrangements for the spring jinks will be the most important topic of discussion at the first Saint Mary's Club meeting this year, which will be held next Tuesday evening, January 29, at the St. Germain Restaurant, 60 Ellis street in San Francisco.

The combination dinner and business meeting will start at 6:30 o'clock. The evening will be more than a routine business affair and it is necessary that as many as possible of the members attend.

Guests of honor expected and who have promised to attend if they are in San Francisco at that time include such prominent men in the baseball world as Joe Cronin, "Lefty" O'Doul, and Joe Devine.

Outfit Frosh Team

Ways and means of raising funds for the proper equipping of the Gael freshman baseball team will be discussed.

Among the newest members of the club are brothers Rudolph and Joseph Rossi. Their sponsor was Al Nicolini, and if Al keeps up his good work, he will shortly be treading on the heels of Joseph Murphy, who is still champion member-sponsor of the club.

Another active member is John M. Punchochar, who has just signed up Louis Rivers of the Emporium. J. Vincent Kennedy is responsible for the membership of Mr. Puncochar.

Attention is called to a lecture to be given at the Knights of Columbus Hall by Brother Leo, for the benefit of the student body. Brother Leo will speak on "Gertrude Stein, Ernest Hemingway and James Joyce."

Tickets will go on sale shortly at the Sherman and Clay agency.

STAFF MEETING

A meeting of the Collegian staff will be held Monday noon in Galileo Hall. Freshmen students who are interested in journalism are requested to attend this meeting.

Any student who is interested in advertising should be present also. The position of assistant ad manager is now open.

Mr. Foran Lauds Roosevelt Social Insurance Program

per cent of the total population, would get almost half the national income, while the other 92 per cent could live on the other half.

New Fund

He contends that the revolving fund argument is fallacious—that is, that the original $24.000,000,000 would be spent and collected back each year—"but the fact is not alone one $24,000,000,000 would be required, but an additional $24,000,000,000 each year if not in new money, at least in goods and services, which would be really turned over by the 92 per cent of the population to the 8 per cent on 'easy street.'"

The average per capita income for 1928, one of the most prosperous years in the United States, was $1920. Naturally some were getting more than this, while some were getting much less. Assuming the best possible income and that the United States is the most prosperous country in the world, in 1928 it did not produce enough to pay everybody a high salary.

Favors Roosevelt's Plan

If the plan were put into effect, the economics instructor believes that there would be numerous opportunities and schemes for cheating the requirements that the $200 be spent in a month, and an army of officials would be required to carry on a continuous check in an effort to prevent fraud.

As a contrast, Mr. Foran presents the Roosevelt Plan for Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, and Health Insurance which he says is "practical, capable of realization, and highly desirable."

In conclusion, he says, "Note in the Roosevelt Old Age Pension Plan, that the age limit would be 65 instead of 60, and not all over 65 would be included, only those who could not support themselves and really needed a pension would be included, and the amount be between $30 and $100 per month."

Band Holds Monthly Practice in Spring

The Saint Mary's band will have their first monthly rehearsal next Sunday, January 27, starting at 11 o'clock and continuing all day.

Joe McTigue, band manager, says that the band reached its peak at the USF game and he expects to keep it in this shape by regular meetings each month.

The band is fortunate in having at their disposal such a man as Arthur Jason, warrant officer of the 30th Infantry. Jason has been associated with bands for twenty years and lately has been selected to lead all the bands at the President's Ball

Ina Coolbrith Contest Open to Saint Mary's

Students of Saint Mary's College have been invited by the faculty of the University of California to participate in the annual Ina Coolbrith Memorial poetry contest.

A prize of $40.00 is awarded for the best original, unpublished poem on any subject which is composed by an undergraduate student. Poems which may be submitted should be handed in anonymously, but should be accompanied by a sealed envelope bearing on the outside the name of the poem and the first line. Within the envelope, the name of the poem and that of the author should be placed on another slip of paper.

The memorial was established by the friends of the late Ina Coolbrith, former poet laureate of California.

Contributions must be handed in to Brother V. Leo before the end of January.

Borden's To Use College Pictures For Publicity

Saint Mary's will be on the screen as well as on the air, and this simply because thirty or more hungry collegians were only too glad to consume a quart of milk apiece in front of a camera for the Borden Milk Company of Oakland.

The college is a regular user of Borden's milk and so the company decided it would be good advertising to take pictures of the students using their product and display them.

As a result, the company made the necessary arrangements with the college and the pictures were taken.

ITALIAN CLUBMEN LIMIT MEMBERSHIP

At a special meeting held Thursday at 12:30, the Dante Club made final plans for the start of its basketball tourney with the other campus clubs. According to John Valentine, chairman of the athletic committee, the first game will be played against "Los Hidalgos," the Spanish Club, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

Unanimously in favor of limiting the club membership, the members of the Italian Club voted that it is to be composed of only fifteen members in the future. This was done by eliminating those members who had been absent to more than three meetings.

At the suggestion of Mario Gaione, president of the club, it was decided to have an Italian dinner in Oakland in the near future. In order to defray the expenses for this affair, it was decided to collect semi-monthly dues from all members.

Brother Victor Lucius was unanimously elected Treasurer, to attend to the collection of dues.

The executive council did practically nothing at its weekly meeting Wednesday. The sole business consisted of rejecting a bid for the printing of automobile stickers. The price offered was eighteen cents per sticker but the council considered this price too high.

Jingoism Again

In keeping with the Hearstian policy of jingoism, Arthur Brisbane, the San Simeon proprietor's ace columnist, has for some months past engaged in pointing out how easily these United States may be devastated within forty-eight hours after the next war commences.

Brisbane, who delights in discussing everything from the immortality of the soul to the daily weather reports without apparent fear or error, is not only making a fool of himself with such absurd theories, but most of all he is fomenting discord between America and Japan. For the most part he brings in the Nipponese as the demons who are waiting to pounce upon this weakling nation.

If it were not for this dangerous and insulting reference to our trans-Pacific neighbors, the prattlings of this pseudo-authority would not merit mention in this paper. The columnist could be of infinitely more value to himself and to his readers if he tried to solve some of the more fundamental problems that are perplexing humanity instead of speaking in terms of war aircraft, gas. bombs, shrapnel, etc. Evidently he is saturated with the fallacies tnat "Might is right" and that "Preparedness is the cure-all of warfare."

Just as appetizers for constructive thought we offer Brisbane the subject of social injustice, wherein starvation stalks alongside full grain elevators, and the question of widespread crime among our youth as problems that need to be analyzed from their very foundations. When he has solved them, warfare jingoism will not seem to be such an important topic for discussion.

The Valuable Depression

In making the statement that "Joe College" no longer exists as a member of university student bodies, Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, president of Princeton University, who is visiting the Pacific Coast, does not surprise those who are intimately connected with educational circles. As a matter of fact the "Rah! Rah!" boys have been missing for a college generation.

Dr. Dodds remarked, "The depression has done the modern university a lot of good. It has made the average student more self-reliant and has increased the amount of student help." These words sum us concisely the metamorphosis that has taken place on the average campus.

Interest in current social and political problems is keen as a whole among undergraduates today, particularly in contrast with the attitude of the prosperity era. The marked growth in forensic activities is but on example of this awakening. On the local campus, despite a decrease in the enrollment, participation in intercollegiate debating has increased about 300 per cent during the past four years.

Although the depression has hit severely the higher educational system of the nation, it has performed two invaluable services. It has eliminated the parasitic "Joe College." In his place there has appeared a more intellectual type of student who is ready to wrest with the perplexing problems that face the world instead of facing life with a "grasshopper" philosophy.

Social Season

Today opens a social season which promises to be outstanding. As guests of the student body of the College of the Holy Names, the campus undergraduates renew one of their most pleasant relationships with nearby institutions.

As has always been the case in the past, a delightful afternoon may be expected by all who attend. A large attendance by Moraga students will be a definite assurance to the young ladies, who have arranged the dance and tea, that their efforts are appreciated.

COLLEGIATE OPINION

Herein is printed weekly the best in university thought.

Hearst and Boo-Hooism

"People who think" are suffering these days. Mr. Hearst and his hirelings seem to be hell-bent on putting every obstacle they can in the path of those young people who are trying to take things seriously. The latest blast comes from the erudite pen of Marguerite Mooers Marshall, writing in the New York American. She thinks it's "about time some of our young people stopped being such cry-babies." She thinks we want the world made over for our especial use and benefit. "Youth's present mood," says this charming pundit, "is frequently expressed in three syllables—'Boo-hoo-hoo.'" Now, of course we haven't that intimate contact with American youth which Mr. Hearst and his hirelings possess, but we have a strong suspicion that that portion of youth which Miss Marshall hears "Boo-hoo-hooing" comes from the readers of the American. In fact, we have often been moved nearly to tears by reading it ourselves.

After all, why shouldn't youth be sad? There is the prospect of war, the presence of social injustice and the imminence of violence everywhere. As a remedy for the evils of this day, Miss Marshall suggests "patience and self-reliance." If everybody will just wait and be patient the Hitlers and the munition makers will just wither away, and there'll be no more war. If all just wait and be patient the forces of greed and privilege which dominate our economic life will sooner or later embrace Buchmanism, and salvation will come by the healing processes of time. Just wait, and everything will take care of itself. That has always been the way the battles of justice and right have been won—by dilly-dallying and patience. The only reason we are so far from the millenium is because we haven't been slow enough about getting there. The only answer for such stuff is an emphatic and vulgar, "Nuts."

It should be cause for rejoicing that some young people have been moved by the sight of misery stalking in the midst of unbelieving abundance, that somewhere students are deeply affected by the thought of war and mass murder. We are grateful thatin some corners of this sorry old globe there are young people whose sensitized consciences are bruised by the plight of humankind. We only hope that, forsaking the counsels of despar, remembering that behind the Hearstian rosebuds of "patience and self-reliance" lurk the Hearstian reptiles of war and social injustice, those who are now crying will wipe the tears out of their eyes, take heart and join the fight.

HE TAUGHT THE DRAMA

Brother Leo

News comes of the death of Professor George Pierce Baker, for many years in charge of the famous Workshop 47 at Harvard, more recently head of the Department of the Drama at Yale. A scholar and teacher, Baker succeeded in interesting many generations of young men in the details of playwrighting and theater technique. His students not only read and discussed and composed plays; they likewise planned and built the scenery, studied the architecture of the theater, designed costumes and invented devices. They acted, too.

Baker's theory was that an actor is a better actor for knowing all about the theater and the conditions under which plays are produced. That, of course, is not the professional attitude. If an actor so much as lays hands on a chair or a cigar box behind the scenes he is liable to get into trouble with the stage hands' union.

Who knows but that Baker was right? One cause of the decline of the drama may well be the excessive specialization of function in the modern theater. Shakespeare, Calderon, Moliere were men of the theater, familiar with every department thereof. So is Noel Coward who else would be completely negligible.

IN MEXICO

A recent observer, well trained and with exceptional opportunities to see things that casual tourists never see, maintains that the cruelty and the horror of the anti-Catholic persecution in Mexico would numb and terrify the American mind. The government plans the complete destruction of religion. Churches and convents are confiscated. Priests are hunted like wild animals and shot when they are caught. Parents are jailed for refusing to send their children to the Communist schools.

Along tourist routes the few churches allowed to function are pointed out to visitors as examples of government tolerance. Likewise a few schools are impressively equipped and for a similar reason. The generality of the government schools are incredibly inadequate. The teachers are few and incompetent.

Singularly shortsighted are those Americans determined to minimize the religious troubles and to exalt the new deal in Mexican education. The atheists at the head of things down there have a definite plan: First, destroy the Church and establish the Soviet in Mexico; then move on to the United States and wipe out Church and Capitalism there.

Some people think that Catholics in this country make altogether too much fuss about the religious crisis across the border. But there is not too much fuss; there is not nearly enough, unless hindsight is better than foresight.

AIMS IN EDUCATION

The late President Calvin Coolidge was not a conspicuous talker. But when he did talk he said something. These words of his have pertinence here and now:

"We do not need more material development, we need more spiritual development; we do not need more intellectual power, we need more character; we do not need more law, we need more religion; we do not need more of the things that are seen, we need more of the things that are unseen."

Any college, and any department of any college, which does not conduct its activities in harmony with those principles is a sham and a snare. We at Saint Mary's might consider President Coolidge's implied contrast between law and religion. Even some good people, forgetful of their Saint Paul, consider religion mainly as prohibitive law. On the contrary, it is freedom of the spirit, a freedom, however, that comes not but as the result of long and heroic self-discipline.

THEY CHEW THEIR CUD

In John Steinmetz's collection of California stories, "Pastures of Heaven," one character is lifted to the dignity of a symbol:

"Throughout the day he had always some small stick protruding from his mouth, a habit only the laziest and most ruminating of men acquire."

Stick chewers, toothpick suckers and cigarette danglers are frustrated cows. Nature having prohibited them from chewing their cud, they must chew something as a substitute for thought. They must; because they can't sleep twenty-four hours a day.

Campus Comment

Campus Comment Editor:

The initiative and the energy shown by the Junior Class in having all the arrangements completed for its Prom at this date deserves all the praise possible. Never before has such a record been attained and never before has a junior class been so sure to come out with a profit.

Every man on the campus who can support the Junior Prom should do so; he will get everything and more than he pays for.

COLLEGIANA

WITH EVERY SEAT I TAKE

If you have been wondering how a pledge to the APGU feels after he has been initiated, bear with me a moment. A pledge to a frat from Loyola (14.) composed a parody of Bing Crosby's latest, "With Every Breath I Take"—and evidently he has known and has felt—for we are brothers under a bruised skin. Here is our post-initiation lament:

"I think of you with every seat I take.
Each time I sit I breathe a sigh,
Not a sigh of relief
But a sigh of grief.
Oh boy!
I hear your voice with every breath I take.
It says, "Assume the angle, worm!"
(Ouch!!)
It's then that I squirm.
Oh! my epiderm!
No joy!

BERKELEY BONERS

University of California, Berkeley, undergraduates included in their final examination papers the following:

"I love to sit in a quiet wood and commute with God."

"The poet Daniel compares his love for Delia to a half-blown nose."

"She was equally gracious to fools as to her own husband."

"The men were tossed and battered into unconscientiousness."

"Browning believes that one moment of real love is worth a lifetime of purity."

"We use the telescope to get better vision of certain obstacles."

"The earth is the body upon which we live and spend most of our time."

"Romeo refused to fight because he had just been married to Tybalt's cousin and it is not natural for a man to pick a quarrel or take one up after such circumstances."

ME TOO!

Are you troubled with keeping New Year resolutions? Cease your worry about will-power and all that. The Oklahoma Daily has solved the problem. Here are four resolutions that nobody on the campus could break:

1. Resolved, not to smoke any $1.50 cigars in 1935.
2. Resolved, to lay off caviar salad in 1935.
3. Resolved, not to cut any Sunday classes this year.
4. Resolved, not to run around with young ladies ? on week nights, especially with girls over 83 years of age.

RIGHT!

An instructor at the University of Minnesota, being unable to hold his classes recently, put a notice on the board "Professor Linn will not meet his classes today." Just after this sign had been put up, he noticed that someone had erased the "c." In order to reciprocate he scratched off the "l."

A DOSE OF HIS OWN MEDICINE

When New Rochelle seniors held their election of class favorites, they included "most eccentric" on the ballot. The eccentric part of it all is the fact that the one who was given this title was the one who insisted on it being included in the voting list.

The latest indoor sport is to try to get some measure of sense out of Gertrude Stein's ramblings. Everybody who has tried has failed; but at the same time they try to ascribe some reason for her peculiar malady. I too, have tried and failed. If you like brain twisters, here is one of Miss Stein's that ought to twist you into a mental pretzel:

"The vocabulary in respect to prose is less important than the parts of speech . . . Poetry has to do with vocabulary just as prose has not. And what is the vocabulary of which prose absolutely is. It is a vocabulary entirely based on the noun as prose is not to be based on the noun . . . When I said a rose is a rose is a rose is a rose, and then later made that into a ring I made poetry and what did I do, I caressed completely caressed and addressed a noun."
